The hotly anticipated Autumn Decorative Antiques & Textiles Fair – the first major art and design fair to take place in the UK since March - will open its doors at 11am on Thursday 22 October 2020 at Evolution London, the giant marquee venue in Battersea Park. It continues to Sunday 25 October. Feted as the most exciting antiques event for interior decoration, it is a major draw for leading designers, international trade buyers, interiors aficionados and collectors. Around 140 exhibitors will be taking part, offering a spectacular variety of decorative and fine antiques, 20th century design; vintage jewellery, handbags and watches; textiles, ceramics, glass and tableware dating from the 1700s to the 1970s, and works of art including paintings, prints, posters, sculpture and statuary of all periods to the contemporary.

The Organisers of the Fair are launching innovative Personal Shopping Services for those unable to attend in person - tailored for trade buyers, collectors, art lovers and private buyers. Combined with an interactive, 360° Virtual Tour of the Fair which goes live at 1pm on 22 October, it is possible for anyone, wherever they are in the world, to enjoy and shop the Fair.

Of course, nothing can quite replace the thrill and fun of discovery when visiting in person. Tickets can be booked online for timed entry; there is no charge for admission. The venue and event Organisers are following all official guidelines to create a Fair that is as Covid-secure as possible. Further information can be found on the website at www.decorativefair/autumn-2020-fair/.

Exhibitors, who come from across the UK and Europe, have been gathering a wonderful range of stock to display. There's no better source for carefully chosen, exceptional design items, unusual furniture, lighting, mirrors, art and decorative accessories; rugs and textiles; garden antiques and statuary and vintage garden decoration. Agreeable surprises are met at every turn. Furnish from top to toe, inside and out, or delightfully discover the perfect finishing touch; for both traditional and modern tastes, The Decorative Antiques & Textiles Fair delights.
